

Prospetto lato Vasche di decantazione

This architectural section drawing illustrates a cross-section of the Theaterhaus in Berlin. The drawing shows a large, curved balcony or mezzanine level above the main floor. Below this, there is a large auditorium with tiered seating. The stage area is visible at the front of the auditorium. The drawing uses various shades of gray and blue to represent different materials and structural elements. The overall design is modern and functional, emphasizing the relationship between the different levels of the theater.

