

LEGENDA

-
- This architectural rendering shows the Temple of Bel at Palmyra. The main structure is a large, rectangular building with a high, vaulted roof. The interior features a central courtyard with a circular fountain and is surrounded by a colonnade of columns. The building is set within a larger urban context, with other structures and walls visible in the background.

