

Systemic Products Map

Visualization of the relationships between research insights and designed products, showing the complexity and articulation of the patriarchal system.

